TORNADOES RIP SOUTH, LEAVE 174 DEAD

Over 1,000 Hurt, Damage In Millions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The black fury of spring tornadoes laced with rain and lightning left 174 dead in four southern states on the Mississippi River yesterday and more than 1,000 injured.

It was as if some vast artillery barrage had been laid on the stricken areas in Arkansas, west Tennessee, Missouri and North Mississippi.

Damage to homes, factories, utilities and farms was expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Worst hit was Arkansas where the rumbling winds killed 115 persons. Thirty-two died in west Tennessee, seven in north Mississippi and 11 in the Caruthersville area of Missouri.

Throughout the night rescue workers stumbled through the muck and debris seeking victims. The screaming sirens of ambulances added to the nightmare.

Guardsmen Called to Duty

Arkansas snapped 440 National Guardsmen to active duty overnight, keeping 100 in reserve at Camp Robinson and putting the others to work in the tortured areas.

The Red Cross poured disaster workers into the region. A Little Rock bound plane was loaded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said today tornadoes may hit new areas in Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama this afternoon, reaching western parts of Virginia and West Virginia tonight.

The storms, forecast by the U.S. Weather Bureau, blitzed Arkansas from the southwest section to the northeast tip.

White County in the strawberry country of Arkansas alone had 73 dead. The towns of Judsonia and Bald Knob, about 50 miles northeast of here, were leveled. Only the Methodist Church in Judsonia escaped unscathed.

Suffering Terrible

"The damage and human suffering is terrific," said Marvin Crittenden, director of relief services for the Arkansas Welfare Department. "The whole highway south from Searcy looks like picture show scenes of battlefields. It is awful."

School houses, churches and armories in many places were swamped with the rain-soaked, shivering injured. Hospitals were jammed.

This was by far the worst storm ever to hit Arkansas. The deadliest previous storm was June 5, 1916, when 86 persons were killed. The highest single day's toll for tornadoes was the death March 18, 1925, of 689 people in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

The tales of death were many. At Dyersburg, Tenn., the vicious wind dipped onto the road and picked up the car of Tennessee State Patrol Sgt. Joe Williamson and tossed it 300 yards. Williamson died.

At Judsonia, Ark., 15-year-old Glenda Fern Eadie, her parents and two brothers were in town rested.

Students, taking the lead in this latest demonstration for return of the city to free territory to Italy, overturned an Allied Military truck and damaged several others.

First reports said a policeman and a civilian were injured in today's demonstration. A score of demonstrators were arrested. Windows were broken in dance halls, bars and other places frequented by Allied military government personnel.

The Rome radio in its noon broadcast said Allied military troops were confined to barracks in Trieste and demonstrations also had occurred in Bologna, Venice and Rome. It said 76,000 Trieste workers were on strike.

Briar Hill Strikers To Return To Work

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Some 300 striking members of the CIO United Steel Workers Local 2163 have notified Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., officials they will return to their jobs today.

The walkout at the firm's Briar Hill plant started Thursday over the suspension of a worker for disciplinary reasons. The company said the strike was unauthorized.

Nebraska Plans Write-In Drive For Sen. Taft

Ike Backers Decline All-Out Campaign In Illinois Primary

Presidential campaign skirmishing was most active today in upcoming-primary states — Nebraska, Wisconsin and Illinois — but blasts and booms were echoing elsewhere.

Once around the country turns up these events:

Nebraska

The April 1 primary campaign got a shot in the arm with the arrival of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and announcement of a write-in drive for Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

Kefauver, who opposes Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma for the Democratic nomination, talked at North Platte and Scottsbluff yesterday.

Taft Gets Boost

Taft, seeking the Republican nomination, got a double boost. Omaha supporters announced plans for a Taft write-in campaign and a Lincoln group readied a program to teach voters to cast write-in ballots.

Wisconsin

The state supreme court's refusal yesterday to consider taking California Gov. Earl Warren's name off the April 1 ballot left Taft and Stassen backers arguing over who started it.

State Attorney General Vernon Thomson, a Taft delegate candidate, said Stassen supporters inspired the action. Loyal Eddy, a Stassen delegate candidate, attributed Thomson's statement to "the crumbling of the Taft organization." Taft has denounced the move to take Warren's name off the ballot.

John B. Chapple, national leader of the draft MacArthur movement, suggested Taft announce willingness to be vice presidential running mate to MacArthur.

Illinois

Eisenhower backers announced in Chicago they will not sponsor a write-in campaign in the April 8 Illinois presidential preference primary. Their reason: The state GOP organization "has been steadily working" for Taft. Taft workers retorted: "Alibi."

No Write-In Campaign

Former Gov. Charles Edison, in a statement issued in New York, urged Eisenhower to disavow the "ill-advised" support of Gov. Alfred Driscoll. Edison, a Taft backer, said he cabled the appeal to the general. Taft withdrew from New Jersey's April 15 primary after Gov. Driscoll announced support of Eisenhower.

New Jersey

A Republican congressman from Wisconsin suggested that Eisenhower and Taft get together on the GOP ticket "for the good of the party and . . . the country."

Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski told newsmen he thought Eisenhower should be the presidential nominee with Taft for vice president.

Biggest Budget Bill Passed By House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest non-military budget bill of the year headed for the Senate today, cut by the house $724,471,415 below the $6,987,687,043 total President Truman requested.

It finances for the fiscal year 1953 more than a score of so-called independent offices including the Veterans' Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Public Housing Program. The budgets of all were cut.

If history repeats itself, some of the cuts made by the House will be restored by the Senate, which last year added almost 70 million to the amounts voted by the house for the same agencies.

WITH MOVERS carrying furniture and furnishings from Blair House and from storage into the White House, one might conclude that President Truman and family will move back sooner than expected, perhaps on his return from Key West, Fla., vacation at the end of the month.

N. Africa Base Officers Relieved

Hearings On Airfield Waste Bring Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional charges of fraud, waste and inefficiency in building multi-million-dollar airbases in North Africa brought a drastic shakeup today of Army engineers who handled the job.

Secretary of the Army Pace started the action late yesterday.

He also notified private contractors working at the huge overseas project that he will suspend or terminate their cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts unless they take prompt remedial action.

The secretary said he had directed Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army Engineers, to relieve the two engineer officers now in charge in Africa, Col. George Derby and Lt. Col. Leonard Raseman.

He said Brig. Gen. Horvill E. Walsh will "command a new engineer division in the Mediterranean area, and the Moroccan air bases will come under his supervision."

Col. Derby and Haseman will stay on the job temporarily to teach their successors, Pace said, "and the time necessary for us to hear what they have to say with respect to any charges against them."

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which has been investigating the African project for months, announced he would order from Pace outlining them.

"This should help the Army, the Air Force and especially the taxpayers," Johnson said. "It takes steps that should have been taken a long time ago."

Probe Finds South Point Police, Officials Guilty Of Misconduct

COLUMBUS (AP)—Investigation of a highway "speed trap and police brutality" in Lawrence County resulted in findings against three justices of the peace and the mayor of South Point.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson termed court and arrest procedures of Peace Justice I. N. Crabtree and his constables in Fayette Township "shocking and intolerable." He returned a finding of $1,102 against the North Konova "J.P."

The State Bureau of Inspection of public officers under Ferguson made the investigations as the request of Manager Lee S. Ainslie of the Automobile Club of Huntington, W. Va. He reported complaints of excessive fines for minor traffic violations, motorists jailed on false charges, beating and abusive treatment of motorists under arrest.

Examiners said they found fines, forfeited bonds and excessive fees unaccounted for. They said justices of the peace exceeded their authority in accepting personal property such as a watch for bail. The officers later disposed of them to cover costs of cases.

Of the South Point mayor, an examiner reported: "Mayor Bruce Barrow has apparently shown little regard for the laws which govern operation of his office. He has failed to docket cases heard in his court and has failed to deposit all public monies he collected."

Ainslie and Ferguson made public appeals for motorists fined in courts of the mayor justices of the peace to give them the details for the investigations.

Cited For Industrial Safety

6 Salem Firms Among 52 In County To Receive Awards

Six Salem firms have been cited for industrial safety and will be honored with awards at an industrial safety banquet Tuesday in the Salem Masonic Temple.

Awards, presented by the Ohio Industrial Commission, will be made to 52 county firms. These include 13 group winners, 14 companies with no lost time accidents, and 25 firms who improved their accident records 25 per cent or more during the year.

The Salem Stamping Co. qualified as a triple winner, and will receive awards as a group leader, for a no accident year, and for safety improvement.

Mullins Manufacturing Corp. is listed as a group winner for the second straight year.

Scouts To Plant 20,000 Trees At Reservoir

Boy Scout Leaders, at a meeting held Friday night at the City Hall, completed plans for planting 20,000 pine trees at Salem's East Cold Run Reservoir.

J. R. Stratton, Jr. council scout commissioner, said that the planting will be done principally by Salem and vicinity scouts but that Lisbon, Columbiana, Newgarden and North Georgetown youths are also expected to participate in the program.

J. W. Pendry of the soil conservation service, attended the meeting. Active in Scout work, Mr. Pendry heads the committee in charge of the program.

The Saturdays of April 5 and 12 have been selected as the dates for the planting, and transportation arrangements are being completed to carry approximately 100 Scouts to the site each day. The trees are being provided by the state.

B. V. BeVier, water superintendent reported that the program constitutes a soil erosion control program. The trees will prevent rain water from weakening the banks of the reservoir by absorbing the excess moisture.

STEEL OFFICIAL DEAD
CLEVELAND (AP)—Walter Clarke Hemingway, president of U. S. Steel Corp.'s Pittsburgh Steamship here, died yesterday in Atlantic City, N. J.

85 Left Homeless By Alaskan Fire

WRANGELL, Alaska (AP)—A wind-fed fire wiped out more than half of Wrangell's business section early today, destroying 20 frame buildings and a residence perched on pilings along the town's main street.

Loss was estimated by Fire Chief William D. Grant as close to $1,000,000.

Eighty-five persons were made homeless before the flames were brought under control at 6 a. m., 4½ hours after the fire mushroomed from a hardware store.

Firemen said a boiler explosion apparently was the cause.

Only one casualty was reported. Cpl. Darrell Miller stationed here with the Alaska communications system, was hospitalized after being hit on the head by a timber sent flying by a dynamite explosion.

His condition was not serious. Dynamiting of buildings in the path of the raging blaze failed to stem its advance. Not until collapse of the only hotel in this community of 1,200 persons, 720 miles north of Seattle, was the fire controlled.

FOUR CUPS GOING TO THE DOGS. Here's a scene to break any restaurant owner's heart. Toby, 3-year-old fox terrier performer at GI shows in Germany, flattens ears and wears a proper hand-dog expression as he comes a cropper at a performance. However, Toby's more successful bag of tricks has made him a great favorite with GI audiences. The dog was trained by a former German juggler, who seems to have passed on some, but not all, of his skill.

Hoffman Seen In Line For Cabinet If Ike Is Elected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The emergence of Paul G. Hoffman as one of the strong men of the Eisenhower presidential campaign stirred speculation today about his political future.

It was regarded as significant here that when the Eisenhower camp wanted a personal plea made to the general to speed up his return to the United States, Hoffman was the man who carried the message to the General's Paris headquarters.

From this and other incidents, some of Eisenhower's supporters — looking into a distant and nebulous future—have concluded that if the general were elected President, Hoffman would be likely to land in the cabinet.

They point to Hoffman's acquaintance with world affairs through ECA as an indication he might well become the general's choice for Secretary of State—a job that most of them previously had speculated might go to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the event of a November victory.

Hoffman apparently has taken over the job of trying to convince business leaders of the country that they ought to get behind the drive to make Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the GOP candidate.

In this non-titled capacity, Hoffman can be expected to represent the element of Eisenhower's supporters outside government, as contracted with office-holders Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Carlson of Kansas.

Hoffman's nominal boss is W. Walter Williams of Seattle, Wash., just named to replace Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr. as chairman of the citizens for Eisenhower committee.

Hoffman, former Economic Cooperation Administrator, has had an opportunity to establish a personal relationship with Eisenhower not shared by such supporters as Rufus L. Lodge and some of the others.

MacArthur To Speak In Mississippi Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur arrives here today to give a joint session of Mississippi's legislature "an old-fashioned states rights speech."

The former Far Eastern commander was scheduled to arrive by plane with his wife and teenage son, Arthur, about noon at municipal airport.

MacArthur will address the legislature from the steps of the state capitol building. An estimated 60,000 persons will hear the talk from the capitol lawn, scheduled for 3 p. m.

Alliance Soldier Killed In Korea

Pvt. Samuel J. Donohoe Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Donohoe of 137 S. Mechanic Ave., Alliance, has been killed in action in Korea, the Department of Defense announced today.

But loss of sheep seemed inevitable because ewes must lamb on winter ranges without the protection of shelters.

Haylift Seeks To Save Cattle

Planes To Drop Hay To Starving Animals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Air Force cargo planes fly to Nevada today to team with snow-battling Army bulldozers in efforts to save 600,000 starving cattle and sheep.

Hamilton Field, north of San Francisco, ordered the cargo planes to rendezvous at the Elko, Nev., airport. There they were to pick up bales of hay and ranch-owners to guide the pilots to drop areas.

Aground, 25 U. S. Sixth Army bulldozers cleared lanes toward isolated herds. Behind them came hay-laden trucks.

But "Operation Haylift" was decided upon after aerial surveys showed that "operation breakthrough" would be too late for some herds.

Newton Crumley, an emergency director, called for the haylift after he flew over northern Elko County in Nevada and spotted cattle so weak they couldn't shake off flocks of magpies.

The northeastern Nevada "disaster area," so declared by President Truman who allotted $100,000 in relief funds, has been covered by snows for two months.

Hamilton Field officials said that big C-124s and C-82s would duplicate the dramatic haylift of 1949 which saved the lives of thousands of marooned livestock. Nevada's Gov. Charles Russell estimated that his state faced a $10,000,000 loss unless the 400,000 cattle and 200,000 sheep could be saved.

Our Churches

Congregations To Join Sharing

Programs, Offerings Planned For Sunday

CONGREGATIONS in thousands of individual churches throughout the United States will unite in the "One Great Hour of Sharing" program Sunday and offerings will be taken for relief use in the churches.

"The Sharing" is an expression of the true spirit of compassionate brotherhood through which Christians in America strive to assume the suffering among their fellow-beings in other lands.

The money raised through the appeal will finance not only the denominational relief and reconstruction projects conducted by the denominations individually and Church World Service among refugees and its material aid programs, but also will make possible many approved endeavors supported through denominational channels.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee

A despairing crusader looks to God

"Tainted Money!" That's what the Rev. Washington Gladson called a check for $100,000. Not that the noted crusading minister objected to a donation for furthering Christianity in foreign lands, what made him hit the ceiling was where his Board of Foreign Missions got the money. They had solicited of all people, the very men whose "immoralistic practices" had been the Rev. Gladson's target for years — John D. Rockefeller.

For three decades immediately before and nearly two decades after the turn of the century, the name of Congregational minister Washington Gladson was on the lips of every corporation board chairman in America. After 11 years in private in the East the active Presbyterian resigned his pastorate to carry on his fight for social reform in the West. But after four years on the editorial staff of the New York Independent, during which time Mr. Gladson exposed and exposed the "Tainted Money" fund, he was forced to leave the paper and he never put pen to paper again. Gladson's articles were carried in magazines from coast to coast for nearly 50 years. In 1882 he began an uninterrupted 34-year stretch in the pulpit of Columbus, Ohio's First Congregational Church. In an era of budding-and-blooming monopolies, the hard-hitting crusader held the torch for Teddy Roosevelt's fight against depredations of combined capital. On Sunday mornings he preached the gospel from various texts. On Sunday evenings he preached the gospel from one text — applied Christianity between employer and employee.

Obviously, the Rev. Gladson made enemies. Because of his outspoken views many of his fellow clergymen turned their backs on him. After his attack on the senior Rockefeller in his articles "Standard Oil and Foreign Missions" and "Tainted Money" Gladson was all but turned out of the denomination. At times the crusader felt that the whole world was against him and he had not a friend on earth. It was during one of these hours of despair in 1879 after his congregation at Springfield, Mass., had grown hostile toward him, that the lonely minister sat in his church and wrote:

O Master, let me walk with Thee
In lonely paths of service true;
Teach me to love, help me to bear
The strain of toil, the fret of care;

Help me the slow of heart to move
By some clear, winning word of love;
Teach me the wayward feet to stay,
And guide them in the homeward way.

Teach me Thy patience still with Thee
In closer, dearer company;
In work that keeps both sweet and strong,
In trust that triumphs over wrong;

In hope that sends a shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way;
In peace that only Thy hand can give
With Thee, O Master, let me live.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Don't Let Hate Be Your Handicap

THERE's a certain social service expert who is considered to be a great humanitarian. He has held high office, been honored in many places and been lionized as the benefactor of the poor and the helpless. As he hadn't so much of a reputation as a religious man, I was somewhat astonished when he came to me and said he needed help.

Dr. Peale

We talked and I found he feared a nervous breakdown. He couldn't sleep and he had read some things I had written on how to go to sleep. That was why he had come to me. He talked for quite a while and, as he talked, I began to remember that the speeches which had earned him his reputation as a great humanitarian had been directed mostly against the bankers and men in kindred activity.

This came to my mind as he told me he was a minister's son and that his father had had a great deal of trouble with the banker in the small town where he had his church. This banker, according to my visitor, "Thought he owned the community." He sat in his bank, "coldly surveying the town through its window" and thinking with satisfaction that he had mortgages on everything and everybody in town.

THE MINISTER had to go down to the bank to get his salary every Monday morning. He would walk up to the banker's desk, hat in hand, and say, "I've come for my salary, Mr. Smith."

And Mr. Smith would purse his thin lips into something of a smile and ask, "Do you think that sermon you preached yesterday deserves a salary?"

Now, most of the bankers I've known are as kindly and decent as anyone else. But this particular man was apparently one of those men, found in every station of life, who enjoy lording it over other people, and he considered the minister his personal hireling. As a little boy, the minister's son often accompanied his father on these humiliating visits. He grew to hate the banker.

And that hate grew and developed so that this one man he hated became for him the personification of every banker and industrialist and businessman and eventually, the personification of the entire free enterprise system. People who heard him speak thought his motives were fine and high and pure. Instead, as he spoke, he was generating a hate that was poisoning him, making him mentally and physically sick. He was rationalizing his hate into a high purpose.

FINALLY, he asked me rather piteously whether people didn't "get converted any more, the way they used to." Certainly they do, I told him. All conversion means is change, and all of us have it within us to change our lives. So this man became converted or changed. He is still considered one of the great humanitarians of our country, but now his motivation is love, not hate. He sleeps well and no longer fears a nervous breakdown.

Is hate your handicap? Have you rationalized some experience or other so that you act from motives that lie half-buried in your past? Are you being poisoned by the bad conscience that results from deceiving yourself as well as others?

Think about your own difficulties and ask yourself if this is true of you. If it is, get rid of hate. Replace it with love. Your spiritual advisor can help you. If you are so far sunk in hate that you need medical or psychiatric help, he can refer you to the proper doctor, psychiatrist or clinical psychologist. But, if hate is your problem, do something about it today for your health's sake, for the sake of your happiness.

The problems of love and hate are as old as man himself. And some of the best advice ever given about them, as up to date as the latest miracle drug, is found in these words from the Sermon on the Mount: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

Don't let hate be your handicap.

Here GREW THE ROOTS OF FREEDOM

The right to worship where and as we choose is only one phase of the liberty we Americans prize, and for this and all of our other freedoms we owe a debt to Christianity.

Religious convictions, woven into our Constitution, gave strength to our pioneers. Reliance upon God, and fidelity to the Church, made our forefathers brave, patient and determined. In such faith was America born.

Through the Church and by authority of the Bible, Christianity says that all human beings have worth—that each one has a place—that man's first responsibility is to his Creator.

The Church is the symbol of this belief—the steadfast instrument through which it is worked out. Therefore the Church deserves our support. It stands for decency and order. It and the Church school are the safest places for our children.

Choose your Church—give it part of your time and means—participate in some of its activities—and you will find life taking on a new and richer meaning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bandwagon Techniques

IT NOW is a hard fact in presidential politics, as opposed to the feelings stirred by the fact, that the people trying to win the Republican nomination for Gen. Eisenhower have started a bandwagon.

They hope to add to its momentum. To do this they will employ all the techniques known to politics; they already have employed these techniques.

There is nothing wrong with this. Every presidential candidacy is built up in the same way. It is a legitimate part of the system by which parties choose nominees. When the nominees have been chosen, the same techniques will be used to win the election for one of them.

At this stage in the preliminaries leading up to the convention, the success of the Eisenhower bandwagon movement in New Hampshire and Minnesota has quickened the tempo of political interest. Chiefly, it has caused a change in the strategy of Sen. Taft's campaign to win the Republican nomination.

While even greater changes have been made in the outlook of Harold Stassen, for example, whose hopes were virtually wiped out in Minnesota by the Eisenhower write-in vote, it is the Taft campaign which is most directly affected.

Hence, the senator's decision to decline to make the New Jersey primary on April 15 a definitive test. It was obvious to Senator Taft when Gov. Driscoll of New Jersey went over to Eisenhower, after pledging neutrality, that the primary in that state would be rigged against him. This was one of the techniques of the Eisenhower bandwagon movement—to roll over the Taft candidacy in a populous state, the only one in which both Eisenhower and Taft would be competing directly before the Republican convention next July.

Sen. Taft, too, has good advisers. He has made no secret of his desire for his party's presidential nomination or of his conviction that he has earned it by yeoman service in the party's behalf. He is entitled to employ whatever techniques are available to gratify his ambition.

This is politics in the United States, where men and parties compete vigorously, then join hands in the common cause of Americanism. The Republican party is singularly fortunate that it has in 1952 two strong potential candidates, both dedicated to the proposition that what the country needs is a change in administrations.

Hand Not Quicker Than The Eye

THE manipulations of inside politics never have been on plainer view than they are in the efforts of Gen. Eisenhower's backers to slow up Sen. Taft's pre-convention campaign. This time the hand is not quicker than the eye. What is happening is obvious.

Gov. Driscoll's betrayal of the spirit of the New Jersey primary by swinging his state organization to Eisenhower in what had been proclaimed an open race; the announcement by supporters of Gov. Warren in Wisconsin that they would swing to Eisenhower as soon as their man had been given a courtesy vote; Harold E. Stassen's declaration that his real purpose in Wisconsin is to stop Taft, and the unmasking of Stassen's Ohio delegates as, in fact, Eisenhower delegates, all add up to a cleverly-contrived stop-Taft campaign.

Whether or not Gen. Eisenhower, being remote from all this, approves of everything being done "in the attempt to place before him next July a duty that would transcend his present responsibility" is problematic.

What is not problematic in the least degree is whether or not his candidacy for the nomination is in charge of people more interested in opposing Sen. Taft than in making certain the Republican party is not riddled and slashed by bitterness before a presidential election.

No one can make a legitimate objection to a good horse race in politics. That is the way political vigor is developed. But a horse race in which one entry is unfairly handicapped and boxed up by stalking horses who apparently were entered for that sole purpose is not in the tradition of sportsmanship.

Fortunately, Sen. Taft has been toughened up in his political career by dealings with other groups that were not finicky about their tactics.

When all the stopping has been done by all the stoppers, he still will be the man that Gen. Eisenhower's backers will need to stop. His friends and admirers have stood by him through eventualities much harder to bear than those cooked up by his opponents in the pre-convention campaign.

The great drawback to most duty calls is that the folks may be at home.

A well-worn hammer, 30 years old, was found recently. We wonder if the good wife finally got that picture hung where she wanted it.

Truman's Decision

By DAVID LAWRENCE

He's Probably Waiting On Republicans

WASHINGTON PRESIDENT TRUMAN, master craftsman at political strategy, is handling exactly right the ticklish question of what to do about letting General Eisenhower give up his command and come home. He says the general may come whenever he—the Supreme Commander in Europe—thinks it is safe or proper. This puts no obstacle in his path, nor does it tell him what to do.

The general, however, has been put in an embarrassing position by what has happened in New Hampshire and Minnesota. The moment those results became known, he appeared to the whole world as an active candidate no matter how hard he might try to erase that impression or call attention to his previous utterances stating that he would not seek the nomination. He can still refrain from making an active campaign but he has reached a point where the embarrassment overflows into his post as Supreme Allied Commander.

THE GENERAL, therefore, has been giving thought to the obvious answer to the problem. It is to resign his post by asking to be relieved of his command sometime between May 15 and June 1. Anyone who stops to think about it will have to concede that it would be incongruous for the general to be carrying on military policies in an atmosphere of partisan politics.

He feels now that he can no longer keep the two positions separate either in European or American eyes. The news tickers that tell from day to day about the state primary campaigns and the reporters who continually ask him for comments on developments in the political contest in the United States present a problem that has never developed before. It is natural for General Eisenhower to feel that he must disassociate himself from his post and let someone else take hold who does not have the handicap that he now carries. This he has definitely decided to do.

The exact method by which General Eisenhower will submit his request for relief has not been determined—that is, whether it will be in the form of a letter to the President or the Secretary of Defense or by personal conference in Washington with either of those two men, who are his superiors.

A CERTAIN INTERVAL would have to elapse before the name of a successor to General Eisenhower could be approved by the member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. For his successor General Eisenhower has decided to recommend General Gruenther, his present assistant, or General Ridgway, now the Far Eastern commander. But that decision would be up to President Truman to make.

General Eisenhower need not become a seeker of votes when he comes home. He has certain speeches to make at West Point and at the "American Embassy" at Columbia University and at a celebration in his home town, Abilene, Kansas.

He probably would accept other invitations in the month between the time he comes home late in May or in early June and the opening of the Republican convention on July 7, but this is not something that would then take on the delicate aspect that it might otherwise have assumed if he had agreed to make the speeches, even of a non-political character, while retaining his post as Supreme Commander of the European Allied forces.

The 1952 Republican race is far from decided. It could still result in an Eisenhower-Taft deadlock. It is amazing to find a number of political folks saying in private that they believe MacArthur may be the beneficiary of such a deadlock.

This appears an impossible outcome, because the Eisenhower faction seems to be reflecting a different concept of foreign policy than is being expressed by General MacArthur in his speeches. If there's a deadlock, it is more likely to result in the nomination of some Republican who is satisfactory to both camps, possibly Senator Lodge of Massachusetts or Governor Warren or Harold Stassen.

THE EISENHOWER leaders are, however, quite confident that they are going to win and that there isn't going to be any deadlock.

President Truman may be observing the Republican race with more concern than appears on the surface. His unwillingness to say just when he will announce his intentions may be related to his desire to know how the Republican contest is crystallizing. He might even decide to wait until after the Republican convention has been held.

For, if the Republicans get into a death struggle and are torn by dissensions and bitter feelings, Mr. Truman may feel inclined to risk a campaign against a divided party of his opponents. Certainly, if Eisenhower isn't nominated, the President may feel that his foreign-policy position will compel him to go into the presidential race as against anyone who holds to a position more or less of the isolationist variety.

Mr. Truman doesn't know yet what he will do, because he may really be waiting for the Republicans to make up his mind for him.

Benefit of the Doubt

By TRUMAN TWILL

If Harry Truman can get away with his attempt to rationalize his position in the affairs of his day, some of the rest of us will be encouraged.

"Mr. President," a volume of information edited and annotated by William Hillman, sets forth what has been in the back of Mr. Truman's mind during his years of service in Washington. It was prepared and published with the knowledge and support of its subject. His diary was made available to the author, in the belief the information it contained would enable Mr. Hillman to sketch a truly representative picture of Mr. Truman as president of the United States.

Mr. Truman's longing for fuller understanding is typical. Circumstances have made him a subject of wide and deep controversy. Being human, he represents what he considers to be misrepresentations of his thoughts and deeds.

Behind every human being's superficial appearance there are details which he would like to call attention to if he could. At the very least, we would like to be given the benefit of the doubt in instances where snap judgment made him appear to be less admirable than he intended to be.

Hence, the endless preoccupation of lovers with the search for "the real you." Hence, the interest in deep-searching biographies and frank autobiographies. Hence, the privilege of a prisoner before the bar to say something in his own behalf after learned counsel has done its best to tear his reputation to shreds.

This is why men keep diaries. It is why there are press agents. It is why most of us value friends in whose presence there is no necessity for being on guard against malice and misunderstanding; in whose presence even our least attractive characteristics can be forgiven.

But what makes it tough—really tough—for all of us destined to live and die in an obscurity is the fact we'll never be the beneficiary of a book containing fuller explanations of our motives and acts.

Our biographies and autobiographies, if any were written, would ring up no sale. Chances are no one would even be able to stay awake over our diary, if it were left lying on a bus seat. Thus does obscurity, itself, have compensations. Scarcely anyone even takes the trouble to misunderstand or misrepresent the obscure.

Still, it would be a rare privilege, say about once a year, to gather those who might be interested and say, "Now look. There are some things you should know. For the next 15 minutes I'm going to tell you what they are. Copies of my prepared statement will be given away at the door as you leave. Please take one home and see what a prince among men I really am."

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"Oh, no, George, no dance! When Bill left with the basketball team, he asked me to stay home and be loyal—why don't you drop in and surprise me?"

Never Can Tell

The Presidential Campaign

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THUS FAR, the canvass for the presidential nomination in either party has produced factional splits of an unusual character. In the Democratic party, the cleavage between the North and the South is of so serious a nature, so personal and vindictive that no one can foretell its consequences. In this situation, Senator Estes Kefauver is no factor. He is still regarded as regular in party politics, as placing himself in position for the vice presidential nomination. It is assumed by politicians that Kefauver will actually be of value to Truman, making it possible for the President to have a southerner on his ticket should he decide to run again.

On the other hand, William Hillman's book, "Mr. President," has deepened the antagonism among southerners for the President. The publication of the letter to James Byrnes, which the book claims Truman read to his then secretary of state and which Byrnes denies he ever saw or heard, involves the President and the governor of South Carolina in an argument as to who is untruthful.

THE QUARREL between them is now irreconcilable because it has become personal rather than political, with all the overtones of a feud. Most of the southerners will line up with Byrnes and will support Senator Richard Russell for the presidency. Russell's candidacy is real and may result in a third ticket in the election. This may benefit whoever is the Republican candidate; it could throw the election into the 83rd Congress, the complexion of which is not now known.

Ralph Nicholson, publisher of "The Charlotte Observer," raises the question of a coalition of Taft and Russell in a speech in which he said:

"I think that the most qualified candidates to lead us back to liberty and security at home and respect abroad are Senator Russell and Senator Taft. I think either can do marvelously. It would be grand if one of them could be president and the other vice president."

This is a reverberation of the effort a year ago of Senator Karl Mundt to form a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. While this effort failed then, it is now being revived in those circles which are antagonistic to Eisenhower and Truman.

THE REPUBLICANS are also violently divided. It would seem at this moment that no matter who is nominated, the personal animosities developing during the primaries will not be allayed in time to achieve party unity by election day.

Republican politicians have always contended that the Willkie and Dewey elections were lost because too many Republicans did not vote for the presidential candidate in those elections.

The hard core of a Republican victory is the regular party vote. If enough independents come their way, the Republicans can win. If, however, regulars vote for United States senators and the governors and state officials, but scratch the presidential candidate, it has been experience that the independents do not make up for the abstentions among the Republicans.

A deepening of the cleavage among Republicans will surely therefore result in the defeat of the Republican candidate whoever he may be, unless he wins over some of the Solid South, in which case the normal ratios would be altered in favor of the Republican candidate.

The Eisenhower forces are bitter because Taft has prevented the nomination of their candidate by unanimous consent. The Taft forces are bitter because the volunteers in the Eisenhower group, many of them former New Dealers and former government officials, use tactics in a primary which they say imperil the election. This argument is being made in particular concerning New Jersey.

THE PROFESSIONAL invariably thinks during the primary that whoever is nominated will have to be supported. Therefore, while he opposes a candidate, he does not employ tactics in the primaries which imperil the party's victory at the polls. The amateur, particularly businessmen, does not think that way: He sets the target and hopes to reach it by whatever means can be devised. The effect in the Willkie campaign was the election of Roosevelt for a third term, which heretofore had been believed impossible.

Thus far this is apparent—in no camp currently is there any ferring to published statements, I am referring to what is said behind the hand. Politicians in neither party are in a mood to set up odds for their side.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Questions for the Doctor

HORMONE face cream is discussed by the doctor. Other questions answered include:

Q—Please tell me if hormone face cream is dangerous to use.

A—It seems doubtful that any direct connection between the use of hormone face cream and the development of cancer or other disease has been definitely proven in human beings. In spite of this, some doctors are not too happy about the widespread use of such hormone preparations.

Q—Several months ago I had Bell's Palsy, and still have trouble with my face and with typing. Will this get better?

A—Recovery from Bell's Palsy almost always takes place and is almost always complete, though it may take quite a long time. Elderly people have more difficulty than those who are younger.

The hint in the inquiry that there is difficulty with typing suggests that there may be some other disorder of the nervous system, and if this is true it will have to be taken into consideration in treatment and in forecasting the outcome.

Q—I have heard the statement that when babies sleep with arms up over their heads that is a sign of good health, but that if adults sleep that way it is not a sign of good health. Is there any truth in this statement?

A—So far as I know, this is an old-wives' tale. It seems doubtful that there is any truth in this whatever.

Q—I have a friend who has fatty tissue growths on her face and arms. They are not painful, but make her very self-conscious. Could they be removed?

A—These fatty tumors usually can be removed by surgery, but if there are many of them, it is often not practical to try to remove them all.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

THOSE who have read Mr. Truman's memoirs say they think Peggy Hopkins Joyce still have a chance with hers.

But I still can't figure why he brought it out for the spring trade. . . . The mail order catalogs just arrived and we're torn between "how to order white wash" and "primaries are eye wash."

There's a report that Hollywood is already bidding for the book. . . . Naturally the title will be changed and the plot rewritten to conform to picture standards.

Instead of "Mr. President," it may be released as "Quo Vadis Harry?" or "He came from Missouri but when is he going back?"

They're out now looking for someone who wants to play the role of President and they don't mean Kefauver.

But I still think the book should have been brought out last fall. . . . I had 30 Republicans whose lives I wanted to brighten with a nice Christmas gift.

Now back to where I left off. . . . "So I said to Jimmy Byrnes

Trip To Moon Now Possible

NEW YORK

SPACE is no longer a matter of distance. To conquer the gap between us and the moon is now a matter of money, relatively no more expensive for the American nation today than it was for a shopgirl a generation ago to gamble her year's savings on a voyage to Bermuda.

They say they can reach the moon—and they will.

The age of the "rock-eteers" has changed all our standards. Nobody any longer really knows what space and time are, except by the old measure of how far the heart you want to be with is from you and how long it takes to reach her.

BUT SPACE and time are words the scientists use to measure the universe. And they are shrinking that universe like a drying apple.

They are conquering the old barriers of time and space, but whether they are getting closer to the heart's desire of the world remains to be seen.

Can I tell you of two personal adventures in time and space to point my meaning?

When I was a boy, the biggest voyage I remember in space was a wintery 45-mile trip with my uncle. It was in a weather-cracked, isinglassed Model T Ford searing across the vaguely-chartered, muddy landscape between Kansas City and Lexington, Mo., my father's birthplace.

Our destination was known, but our route was a gamble. Our vehicle, sturdiest then known, was still a doubt. But it held up. The tires didn't, but they could be blown up again. We didn't think anything on four wheels in those days could go that far across those mud tracks in that temperature.

IT WASN'T until I saw Korea that I knew God gave men colder days. But I still remember the warm sense of victory when the beaten little car wheeled home.

I remembered those 45 miles of conquered Missouri mud again the other day when I sat in a New York restaurant and heard a 39-year-old man tell seriously how he had made plans to go to the moon.

His name was Werner Von Braun, the German inventor of the deadly V-2 rocket that almost forced Britain to capitulate in the last World War.

Von Braun is a tall, blond, blue-eyed scientist who now is enlisted on the side of American arms and says he wants to be an American citizen. There is no doubt he is a genius. He has already proved it.

His genius is now devoted to a very simple proposition. He spends his time selling it with the same simple ardor of a young salesman peddling a new vacuum cleaner.

He has figured out a way he can shoot up a rocket some 1,075 miles or so beyond the reach of gravity. He has figured that if he can shoot up 12 of them he can build a dough-nut-shaped watchtower holding 36 men who can spy down as they circle the earth every two hours and use their platform through radar to control the world.

"AN ENEMY just couldn't hide any more," he said. "We could call down fire on him wherever he was. If we don't build this space station, the Russians will sooner or later."

Von Braun says he can safely get men up and back from this whirling space station, even rocket them onto an exploratory trip to the moon and return them whole.

"It would take only four billion dollars and ten years to do," he said. "That is only a fraction of the American military budget."

Listening to him I had no feeling of doubt that his project could be done. But I had no sense of victory over space. I only felt depressed.

If Von Braun is voted the money he wants and bold men carry out his plans successfully, they will have negated the obstacle of the sky.

But when, 30 years ago, I made a 45-mile trip into the unknown to visit my father's birthplace there was someone we had come far and risked much discomfort to see, waiting at journey's end.

Who's waiting up yonder?

Big Red, Middies Win, Enter Class A Finals

Nelsonville, Lockland Wayne Also To Battle For "B" Title

COLUMBUS (AP)—One of the quaintest quartets in tournament history fights it out today for Ohio's Class A and Class B high school basketball championships.

The all-star cast for the climatic contests offers a bit of everything.

In Class A it's Middletown's Mighty Middies against Steubenville's unbeaten Big Red. In Class B it's Nelsonville against Lockland Wayne.

Middletown, champion in 1944-46 and runner-up in 1945, is in the finals for the fifth time in nine years. The Butler County crew has won 23 of 24 for Coach Paul Walker, prexy of the Ohio Basketball Coaches Association.

STUEBENVILLE, only unbeaten team in the Buckeye realm, has 28 straight conquests. In two previous trips to the big tourney, the Big Red was ousted in the opening game.

Nelsonville, a Class A club for the last 10 years, during which it reached the state meet twice, skidded to Class B this season because of an enrollment drop, so this is her first time in the "junior" sector for the classy kids from the Athens County hills. They've won 22 of 25.

Lockland Wayne is an all-Negro school in Hamilton County, coached by gentlemanly Joe Martin. The Panthers have been to the state meet five times since 1941, reaching the finals in 1949 when Delphos St. Johns took the title 47-43.

THE TUSSLE for the titles is the big item on today's agenda, but there's a scoring sidelight which will attract much of the Class A spotlight. It pits two all-Ohio stars against each other, each of whom was directly responsible last night for getting his team up to the throne room door.

Dick Vice, Middletown's hardwood artist, set a new Class A scoring record of 31 points as Cincinnati Withrow was ousted 67-48. The old mark was 27 set by Newark's Dwight Snelling in 1941, but Vice was four over that figure when he left the game—accompanied by the tourney's most spontaneous ovation—five minutes before the finish.

That big splurge gave Vice, second team all-Ohio choice, 44 points for two games.

Kentucky, Illinois, Dukes Among Winners In NCAA Tilts

Kentucky's basketball team lived up to expectations last night as the NCAA eliminations opened.

The mighty Wildcats from the Blue Grass Country, rated the No. 1 team in the country and aiming for their second straight NCAA crown, walloped Penn State, 82 to 54, before 11,000 in Raleigh.

All-America Cliff Hagan led Kentucky with 20 points as the Wildcats romped to their 23rd straight triumph.

St. John's, Illinois, Duquesne, Kansas, St. Louis, Wyoming and Santa Clara kept pace with Kentucky in the first-round play.

All were favored with the exception of Santa Clara, surprise 68-59 victor over UCLA in the west coast competition at Corvallis.

St. John's stood off a late North Carolina state rally to beat the Wolfpack, 60-49, in the second game at Raleigh, Illinois, behind 37-36 at half time, roared back to swamp Dayton, 80-61, in the feature of the twin bill at Chicago before 14,147. Little (5' 10") Jim Bremer broke loose in the second half for the Illini to turn a close game into a rout.

Duquesne bounced back from its poor showing in the NIT last week to whip Princeton, 60-49.

Kansas, with all-America Clyde Lovellette flipping in 31 points, nipped Texas Christian, 68-64. St. Louis had whipped New Mexico A & M, 62-53.

Rugged Wyoming successfully stalled the last four minutes to down Oklahoma City, 54-48.

Gil Turner Aims For Welter Title

Scores 7-Round TKO Over Don Williams

NEW YORK (AP)—A July title fight between undefeated 21-year-old Gil Turner and welter-weight champion Kid Gavilan was in the making today following the Philadelphia sensation's seven round technical knockout of Don Williams last night.

Young Gil, a ball of fire all the way in his Madison Square Garden triumph, said "I'm ready for Gavilan. Bring him on."

George Katz, Turner's manager, said "A Gavilan-Turner bout in Philadelphia this July would draw $350,000, including television and radio money."

"I'VE TURNED DOWN three non-title fights with Gavilan for Turner," added Katz. "We want that title shot. The Kid's ready now. I'll get him one fight in April, one in May, and then rest him for the July fight. We'd have to wait until then because of the coming Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott fight in June."

Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said he would do what he could about making the title fight.

Garden and TV fans really got an eyeful in Turner. He froze a little in his Garden and TV debut with Vic Cardell on Dec. 28 although he won by a wide margin.

AGAINST WILLIAMS, who lost by a shade to Gavilan in Boston last month, Turner wasted no time. He started throwing leather from the opening bell and hardly stopped for a moment.

In the seventh round of the scheduled ten, he belted the slender Worcester, Mass., choir singer with 110 punches by boxing writers' count. At the end of the seventh, Referee Ray Miller called in Dr. Vincent Nardiello for a consultation and then the official stopped the bout. It was listed as a seventh round TKO under New York rules.

Turner weighed 147½ to Williams' 146½. It was his 30th consecutive victory. He has scored 23 knockouts.

Canton Lehman Coach To Resign This Season

CANTON (AP)—Jim Robinson, who coached Canton Lehman High School to city championships in both football and basketball this season, is going to resign. This was disclosed today by School Superintendent Dr. Harold Eibling. He did not reveal Robinson's plans.

A likely successor is Roy Shell, who had the job two years ago when he was called into the Marines. Shell expects to be released this summer.

Twenty years ago—The Montreal Canadians topped the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 on the last days of the season, to clinch first place in the Canadian division of the National Hockey League.

Worsham, Cooper Lead In Golf Open

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Young Jack Burke needs a lot of sub-par golf to keep his victory string intact in the Jacksonville open.

Burke, far off the form that won him four straight PGA tournaments, and going into today's second round, was six strokes back of two tournament-veterans, Lew Worsham and Pete Cooper, who shot 66 each yesterday to grab the lead.

Besides this pair, Burke has to contend with 24 other par busters and 11 who matched his even par 72 in the opening round.

Hoppe To Be On TV

Nelsonville Regular Hurt, May Not Play

COLUMBUS (AP)—Nelsonville's basketball team may play Lockland Wayne in the finals of the state Class B tournament today without their first string forward, John Powell.

Powell, a six-foot senior, received a sprained left wrist when he fell hard on the floor in the closing minutes of the Nelsonville-Waynesburg game yesterday. Nelsonville eked out a 45-43 win in the contest.

Powell was X-rayed at university hospital but it was not learned immediately whether his wrist was broken or whether he would miss today's big game.

The Christian Ladies Aid were guests Monday evening of the Hanoverton Ladies Aid of the Christian Church.

R. G. Yaeger Buys
Championship Bull

Although only 14 months old, Real Buck Domino, a prize bull purchased March 17 by R. G. Yaeger, of the Franklin Rd., has won three fair first prizes.

Yaeger, who has operated a 147-acre peach orchard and farm since 1934, bought the bull and four Hereford heifers as first step in entering the Hereford breeding field.

The bull, weighing 1,197 pounds, won first prize at Mt. Gilead and Lancaster fairs while traveling the county fair circuit last fall, and recently won first prize in his age class at the Columbus fair.

His county fair prizes were won as best junior calf. Yaeger purchased the bull at the Columbus sale. He was raised by Arthur Bumpus of Walhonding, O.

The heifers were bought about three weeks ago from Pete Weidner of Jeromesville. Real Buck Domino is on show at the Yaeger farm where the owner has invited visitors to view it. Yaeger emphasizes he is not planning to become a beef raiser, but will stick to breeding high grade Herefords.

Portsmouth Newspaper
Marks 100th Birthday

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — The Portsmouth Times celebrates its 100th birthday today.

With Volume 100, No. 313, today the Scioto County daily becomes one of 31 in Ohio which have passed the century mark.

There was no special fanfare in connection with the centennial, but the Times published today a short history of the newspaper which began as a weekly on March 23, 1852, and arranged a "family" party tonight for its 113 full-time employees.

Tickets are on sale by the Alumni.

Miss Vesta Kindig, Mrs. Perry Kindig and J. H. Kindig visited Martin Kindig at the Cleveland Clinic Tuesday, where he is undergoing treatment.

The Junior Class will present "Just Ducky" on Friday evening March 28. A three-act comedy is directed by Mrs. Richard Calvin.

Mrs. Donald Beardsley was hostess to the Christian Church Ladies at an all-day meeting Wednesday, the women doing sewing.

It is hoped a large number will be present to take part in the Green Township Cantata Choir practice at 2:30 Sunday at the Christian Church. Those taking speaking parts will practice at the Lutheran Church.

Cleveland Dance Fails
From Too Much Success

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The Moondog Coronation Ball" which a pair of promoters put on at Cleveland's Arena last night was such a success it failed.

When 6,000 persons crashed the gates to join an already over-capacity crowd of 10,000, police riot squads stopped the entertainment and dancing.

About 9:30 the crowd outside, angry because they could not buy $1.75 tickets, stormed the gates, knocking down four panel doors. Two men were stabbed in the melee.

Winona Circle Met
At Beard Home

WINONA — The Senior Missionary Circle met Wednesday with Miss Dorothy Beard for an all-day meeting. There were three visitors and all members except one present. They knotted two comforts.

The noon sack lunch was followed by a program and business meeting in charge of the president, Rev. Lydia Brantingham. The roll call was answered by "Families of the Bible." Miss Mary Benedict gave a sketch of the life of John Payton.

W.C.T.U. Entertained There were eleven members present when Mrs. Lowell Ewing entertained the Winona Women's Christian Temperance Union at her home on the Cider Mill Rd. Thursday afternoon. President Mrs. Donald Mayhew presided at the business meeting.

The program was in charge of Rev. Lydia Brantingham, presenting literature and publications of the W.C.T.U. Mrs. Paul Rohrer read the lesson from the study book and reviewed article "The Woman Alcoholic." Mrs. Ewing served a lunch.

Winona Notes Relatives here received word of the death of Gilbert Pettigill of Moylan, Pa., Friday. His wife, the former Helen Stratton, is well known because of visits here.

Relatives have received word that Miss Rachel Brantingham is confined to the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., because of a broken hip she received in a fall on a Philadelphia street recently.

Mrs. Bertha Paulin of Beloit is a guest of Mrs. Willard Yengling. Mrs. Sina Megrail left Friday for Hopdale where she will visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Stanley of Salem and guest, Miss Georgiana Parrott of Columbus, were Sunday evening dinner guests in the Roscoe Stanley home.

COLUMBUS (AP) — More than 3,000,000 barrels of oil were produced in Ohio during 1951, State Commerce Director W. Harper Annot reported yesterday.

The oil came from 18,211 producing wells. During the year, 315 new oil wells were found with an initial production of 7,291 barrels. Seventy-one combination oil and gas wells were drilled successfully in 15 counties. They yielded 21,210,000 cubic feet of gas and 2,665 barrels of oil.

HOSTS TO CLUB

Relief Load Here Is Light

Can't Compare To Total Of Yesteryear

The number of relief cases in Salem today is a far cry from the staggering total carried on the city's books during the depression years, according to Mrs. Ruth E. Berry, city relief director. The monthly average at present is about 15 to 20 cases per month as compared to the 400 to 500 applications for aid handled monthly during the depression years.

In 1951 the city was allotted $4,825.54 in excise money by the county for poor relief. This year the figure will be approximately the same, according to County Auditor I. F. Vordran.

During the depression years the state alleviated the city's financial burden by matching 50 per cent of the money spent locally to help the ill or destitute. However, funds provided by the state have decreased to the extent they now amount to only 25 per cent of the city's expenditures for this purpose, Mrs. Berry said.

Heaviest expenses to the city are incurred during the winter months when coal bills and an upsurge in medical costs present added demands on available funds. Food expenses are low in the summer season due to the fact that most families have gardens.

Because of the plentiful work in this district, few relief cases involving able-bodied persons are occasioned by lack of employment. Aged people who cannot subsist on their pensions, persons disabled by illness or accident and those temporarily in dire straits because of a sudden misfortune comprise the major amount of the number seeking aid.

Large Crowd Sees Concert Performers

Impetus was given the 1952-53 membership drive of the Northern Columbiana County Community Concert Association by the excellent performance of Mata and Hari and company Friday evening in the High School Auditorium.

The campaign starts Monday for renewals and new memberships for the coming season. Officers, directors, team captains and workers will map out the week's drive at the dinner meeting Monday evening in the Presbyterian Church. Russell Simmons of the Association's New York office will be present.

The largest crowd to witness an association concert this year gave the interpretive dancers an ovation last night, despite the fact they were handicapped by a small stage.

Owners Of Padlocked House Seek Occupancy

Nick and Eva Stanch of Alliance want to move into their Homeworth Rd. house which was padlocked Jan. 3 as a house of prostitution.

Stanch came to Common Pleas Court Friday, paid his half of a $300 penalty tax and asked Judge Joel H. Sharp if he couldn't occupy the brick house in Knox Township.

The judge said that would depend on the feeling of the Homeworth Rd neighbors who had the place closed as a nuisance. Stanch will try and get their okay.

Miss Joyce Marlowe, who rented the home for a "restaurant," paid her $150 penalty in January and said she was leaving the county.

Winds Crumpled Cafe

The swirling winds crumpled the cafe. Glenda died with her mother, Mrs. W. E. Eadie, and her brother, Ed. The other brother and the father were critically hurt.

At Carlisle, Ark., the Ray Jones family had packed up to move to another home when the storm hit. Their two boys, Derald, 15, and Doyle, 9, were killed.

There were escapes, too. None was more miraculous than that of a 77 year old blind man, Henry Wilkins of Marked Tree. He sat helplessly while the wind shattered his home around him. His wife was critically hurt.

The dead, by states: Arkansas—White County, 73; Cotton Plant, 10; England, 9; Dierks, 7; Center Point, 5; Hazen, 3; Carlisle, Marked Tree and Hickory Ridge two each; Trumann and Watensaw, one each.

COMPETITION

Business competition in times like these is bound to develop a regard for the rights of others. The keen competition among American bankers has developed a consideration for customers to a much greater degree than the branch banking systems of Europe, Canada and elsewhere.

The foremost thought of the officers of the First National Bank is to respect the right of their customers and to safeguard their deposits. The result is a friendly, prudent and considerate bank.
